TEB BNP PARIBAS İSTANBUL CUP

WELCOME TO ISTANBUL

“If the Earth were a single state, İstanbul would be its capital”
Napoleon Bonaparte

Istanbul is an old city, you can see the remains of many ancient civilizations and their culture in harmony with Turkish culture. The old versus the new, the traditional versus the modern is a conflict a visitor often observes. The city is full of contrasts, and colorful views, Where the blowing winds from the seven peaks of Anatolian Olympos merge into each other...

Where Amazon's cooled their bodies in the waves that break apart from the Black Sea and roll mightily against the shore...

Where love is symbolized in the Tower of Leandros...

Where stand the rocks of Symplegad that brought nightmares to the Argonauts...

Built on seven hills on Asia and Europe...

Capital of three empires...

Where romance and traffic jam go hand in hand...

Lively and exciting...

A world metropolis...

That is Istanbul...

Would you like us to guide you through this legendary city? For the ones who live here, for the occasional visitors and for those of you who are entering it for the first time - whichever aspect of this city you want to experience, we will help you to reach it easily.

ISTANBUL TIPS & HINTS

Arrival To The City

Most visitors may enter Turkey without a visa, or by easily buying a "sticker visa" at the airport, maritime port, or border-crossing point. You hand the clerk your passport and the fee in CASH, the clerk sticks a stamp in your passport and you're on your way. The clerk doesn't look you up in a database or scan your passport or take your name or anything. The whole thing takes 10 seconds. Basically, the sticker visa fee is just a tourist tax.

Be sure your passport is valid for at least six months from the date you enter Turkey or you may not be admitted. You can obtain your visa in advance, before you arrive in Turkey, from any Turkish consulate, but it entails time, trouble, and extra expense (you'll pay a "visa processing fee.") It's much simpler to just buy your visa at the border.

Work Hours

Banks are open weekdays from 8:30 AM until noon or 12:30 PM, depending on the bank, and from 1:30 PM until 5.00 PM. However, there are some banks which continue to serve during lunch breaks.

Museums are generally open Tuesday through Sunday from 9:30 AM until 5.00 PM or 5:30 PM and closed on Monday. Palaces are open the same hours but are closed on Thursday. For specific information on museums, please visit our museums section. Shops and bazaars are normally open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 AM to 1.00 PM and from 2.00 PM to 7.00 PM, and closed all day on Sunday. But most stores in shopping malls and crowded streets are open seven days a week, including lunch breaks. You can find restaurants or cafes open virtually at any time of the day or night.

Visiting The Mosques

Most mosques in Istanbul are open to the public during the day. Prayer sessions, called namaz, last 30 to 40 minutes and are observed five times daily. Tourists should, however, avoid visiting mosques midday on Friday, when Muslims are required to worship. For women, bare arms and legs are not acceptable inside a mosque. Men should avoid wearing shorts as well. Women should not enter a mosque without first covering their heads with a scarf. Before entering a mosque, shoes must be removed.

Communication

Post offices are painted bright yellow and have PTT (Post, Telegraph, and Telephone) signs on the front. Making phone calls from counter-top metred phone is economical. If you decide to ship something home, don't close your parcel before it has been inspected by a customs official. Take wrapping and packing materials with you to the post office. Parcels sent by surface mail to Europe cost 25 TL for the first Kg, then 3.50 TL for every extra Kg. Mailing to US and Australia is more expensive. The central Post office is open Monday through Saturday from 8 AM to 9 PM, Sunday from 9 AM to 7PM. Smaller ones are open Monday through Friday between 8:30 AM and 5.00 PM.

The easiest way to send a parcel is by a carier company (DHL, UPS etc.)

UPS Tel. Nr: 444 00 33

DHL Tel. Nr: 0212 478 10 00

The pay phones are in the booths you see on the streets, and they are available at many places such as streets or squares, hospitals and train stations. The call cards used for these phones are sold in Turk Telecom offices and branches, PTT offices and some buffets. The prices of the cards vary depending on the amount of credits in them. Country code for Turkey is (90). If you are in European Istanbul and wish to call a number in Asian Istanbul, you must dial 0, followed by 216. If you are in Asian Istanbul and wish to call a number in European Istanbul, you must dial 0, followed by 212.

Mobile reception is very good in Istanbul and locals have embraced the technology whole-heartedly. If you want to use your home phone here you should note that Turkey uses the standard GSM network operating on 900 Mhz or 1800 Mhz. Most mobiles can connect with Turkcell, Vodafone, Avea networks In the recent years, the number of cafes and shopping centers with wi fi Internet access has increased dramatically, most of them still being free. Most internet cafes have high speed ADSL connections, and they are very inexpensive compared to Europe (about 0.50-1.50 euros per hour).

ISTANBUL TIPS & HINTS

Banking & Currency

There is no limit to the amount of currency (foreign or Turkish) you can bring into Turkey. You can exchange foreign currency you have at banks, or exchange offices at more reasonable prices. There are 24-hour exchange bureaux in the arrivals hall at Ataturk International Airport that offer rates comparable to those offered by bureaux in the city. US Dollars and Euros are easily changed at exchange-bureaux. They are also often accepted as payment without being changed. As Turkish Liras are fully convertible, there is no black market.

In Istanbul, traveler's checks are rarely accepted. If you have travellers cheques, you will have to change them at a bank or post office. ATMs can be found in even the smallest Turkish towns.

Most accept international credit cards or bank cards (a strip of logos is usually displayed above the ATM). Almost all ATMs have a language key to enable you to read the instructions in English. Most hotels, car rental agencies, shops, pharmacies, venues and restaurants will accept Visa and Mastercard. Amex and other credit cards aren't as widely accepted as the others.

The monetary unit is the Turkish lira (TL), which comes in bank notes of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200. Smaller denominations come in coins of 5; 10; 25 and 50.

Vat

The value-added tax, here called KDV, is 18%. Hotels typically combine it with a service charge of 10% to 15%, and restaurants usually add a 15% service charge. Value-added tax is nearly always included in quoted prices. Certain shops are authorized to refund the tax (ask).

Time

Istanbul time is East European Time, two hours ahead of Coordinated Universal Time.

Electricity

The electrical current in Turkey is 220 volts, 50 cycles alternating current (AC); wall outlets take Continental-type plugs, with two or three round prongs.

Safety & Security

The streets of Istanbul are considerably safer than their counterparts in the United States or Western Europe. Travelers should nevertheless take care of their valuables, as pickpockets, although not as common as in the U.S. or Europe, do operate in the major cities and tourist areas.

Police

The Tourism Police that is a unit offering service to tourism sector with its foreign language speaking staff provide the security of tourists visiting Istanbul.

Plane Talk

Atatürk Airport is located in Yesilköy, in the European side of Istanbul. Airports distance is 28 km to downtown, 4 - 4.5 km to sea shore. The airports live at a dizzying pace for 365 days a year, and 24 hours a day. TAV's experienced and genial staff operates at every point from the parking lot to the security inspections, from check-in's to cafés, from duty free shops to boarding bridges; to ensure that the passengers are comfortable, and their journeys pleasant. Visas for U.S. and residents of EU countries can be obtained upon arrival. Departure is a more lengthy operation involving passing through extra security checks that could take up to 90 minutes.

Connections to the City

Transportation options from Atatürk Airport into town include:

Bus Shuttle – The Havas bus company provides service from airport to Taksim Square and Taksim Square to airport, charge is 10 TL between 05.00-06.00 every hour, between 06.00-23.00 every half an hour. The Havas buses depart from a bus stop located outside on the street at ground level at International Arrivals. They stop at the Sea Bus station Bakırköy (for transfers to Bostancı and Kadıköy on the Asian side), Aksaray and Taksim Square.

Taxi - typical minimum charge into Taksim is USD 15.00 - 12 Euro - 11 Pound - 25 TL (25 Turkish Lira)

Hotel shuttle buses - Many of the major hotels provide shuttle bus and van services to and from the airport.

Limousine - typical minimum charge is USD 110.00 + V.A.T.

There is another airport, Sabiha Gökçen Airport, on the Asian side in Kurtköy. It is currently used by low-cost and charter airlines only.

Taxis

Taxis are a dependable means of public transportation available at all times of day and night. Make sure to only use yellow taxis with meters and pay attention to be sure the driver turns on the meter. The day-time tariff, gündüz, starts 2 TL and increases at night between midnight and 6:00 a.m., gece, with the meter starting at 2.5 TL. Tipping is not required but rounding up to an even denomination is common, i.e. 4.8 TL to 5 TL. As in most major cities, there are some less than honest characters out there. A cab from Sultanahmet to Taksim on average is about 5 TL, about $3 to $4. From the airport to Taksim is about 20 YTL ($ 12) and 30 minutes approximately.

Public Transportation

Public transportation options include the limited Metro (stations at Taksim - Osmanbey - Gayrettepe - Levent - 4 Levent), the world's largest bus fleet, the light rail system departing from Sirkeci station in the historic Sultan Ahmet district, and numerous ferryboats that criss-cross the Bosphorus from the main terminals at Eminönü, Karaköy and Beşiktaş. Also not to be missed is the historic tramway that shuttles up and down the pedestrian-only İstiklal Caddesi in

WITHIN THE CITIES

BeYOđlu and the 19th century funicular subway, Tünel, located at the end of İstiklal Caddesi.

Buses

The Municipality operates a large fleet of red colored public buses, belediye otobüsleri, complemented by the privately operated blue and green private buses, halk otobüsleri. Tickets for the public buses, $.75 are not taken by the private buses. Only the automated AKBİL, 'smart card' works on both systems.

Dolmuş

The dolmuş, meaning full, are point to point shared taxis or jitneys, that run between the city's major centers. If you don't get on at the departure point you can flag them down anywhere on their route. The destination of the dolmuş is usually placed on the front window. Payment is made en route but can also be done at the last stop if you are going to the end of the line. Popular routes are Taksim to Teşvikiye, Bostancı, Kadıköy, Bakırköy, Yeşilköy, Kadıköy to Bostancı. The large squarish minibuses are the poorer cousins to the dolmuş operating in the same manner. The main minibus line runs from Beşiktaş to the business centers in Balmumcu, Gayrettepe, Levent, Maslak and back down to the Bosphorus at Sarıyer.

Ferry boats and hydrofoils

Despite being surrounded by seas on three sides, İstanbul does not have the elaborate sea transport system of a Venice or even Amsterdam. What it does have is continuous service between the two Asian centers of Kadıköy and Üsküdar, and Beşiktaş, Kabataş, Eminönü/ Karaköy on the European side. The main form of sea transport are the sleek but slowish, vapur, managed by the Turkish Maritime Lines. The vapur run every 15 mins to half an hour from 6:30 AM to 9 PM depending on the line. There is also the Bosphorus that runs up and down the Bosphorus starting Eminönü up to Anadolu Kavağı with a special excursion on Sundays. Prices start at $.50 for a one way ticket.

The İstanbul Municipality runs the speedier, deniz otobüsleri, sea bus or hydrofoils, under the İDO (İstanbul Sea Buses) name. The main line is between Kabataş, Karaköy and Eminönü in the center of the city, to Kadıköy and Bostancı, on the Asian Side, and Bakırköy in the western part of the city near the Atatürk Airport. More expensive than the vapur, the average one way ticket is $2.

There are also cooperatively run smaller ferryboats that run as dolmuş. The Beşiktaş - Üsküdar is the most popular of these inexpensive lines running well into the evening up to as late as 2-3:00 AM. Costs $.50.

Metro, Tram and Tunnel

The İstanbul Metro is a mass-transit underground railway network that serves the city of İstanbul, Turkey. Founded in 2000, it now includes 6 stations. The system currently consists of one line. This line is a north - south line. It is a serpentine shaped line, and is fully underground. It runs from 4 Levent to Taksim. Currently, the line works between Taksim and 4. Levent, but in the beginning of 2009, şişhane, Sanayi, Maslak and Atatürk Oto Sanayi Stations will be in service, and the line will consist of ten stations. The tunnel between Şişhane and Taksim will pass under the İstiklal Street. There is a flat fare - 1.40 YTL ($ 1), paid in tokens. (which are valid on the funicular, Modern Tram, Hafif Metro, busses and trans-Bosporos ferry boats). Akbils are also valid. This is the most popular for long distance travelling. This ticket is valid in all metro, tram, light rail, funicular, ferry boat & bus.

Istanbul, the former capital of Turkey has three separate tramway systems. The city is divided between Asia & Europe. The Asian side has a heritage tram system, whether the European side has both heritage tram & modern tram system. Istanbul once had a large tramway network on both Asia & Europe. It first started as horse tram, & gradually changed to electric tram. The tram service was completely stopped in 1966.

Tram returned in Istanbul in 1990. The more useful, for touristic purposes, Zeytinburnu to Eminönü line runs straight through the center of the historic peninsula passing by major sites such as Topkapı Palace, Hagia Sophia, Grand Bazaar and Beyazıt Square. The tram costs $.70 and runs from 6:00 AM to 12:00 midnight. And lastly there is the Tünel and historic tram in Beyoğlu.

The Tunel, one of the world's first subways, is a 125 year underground funicular line that connects Karaköy at the head of the Golden Horn with İstiklal Caddesi in Beyoğlu. From there the cute, one car historic tramway goes up to Taksim Square from Tünel. Tickets for each are bought separately at $.50.

Intercity Transport

Getting out of Istanbul to the rest of Turkey up to last year meant catching a Turkish Airlines flight out of the domestic terminal at Atatürk Airport. This year with the addition of new privately run airlines, now there are many more options and prices available for trips to Mediterranean and Aegean hotspots like Antalya, Bodrum, İzmir and Fethiye. In addition to Turkish Airlines, check with Pegasus Air, Onur Air, Atlasjet, and Flyair. For most Turks, the main form of national transportation is the cheap and ubiquitous inter city buses. There are two major bus stations on either side of the city, Topkapi on the European side and Harem on the Asian side. The upmarket Varan and Ulusoy bus companies run out of their own terminals stopping en route to their destinations at well appointed road side restaurants and rest stations on route. A trip to Ankara via bus costs on average $30 (45 TL) and lasts about 5 ½ hours.

Faces

in the Tunel area at the other end of Istiklal Street from Taksim Square. Walk right through the arcade opposite the Tunel funicular exit, and keep going. Then start asking people where Faces is, and they'll point you right. Dress to impress. This is one of the many bars with narrow frontage in the area, but inside there are two floors of fun. Dress to impress, but it's a place to have fun, not a place to 'be seen,' so don't go overboard. Tunes are recent with interesting re-mixes and good work from resident DJ. Good for a warm up drink from 10pm, starts hopping after midnight.

Partie Music Club

This club is located in the middle of Istiklal street. It offers good pop music, live music and concerts. It's atmosphere brings you deep inside music world. You can let out all your power by dancing. Very good DJ -s. On the second floor you can enjoy concerts by sitting around the table with your friends. Most important is that this club is very safe. It is easy to go there and go away from there by taxi. It is very good music club in Istiklal.

go to 360 in Beyoglu, but have a backup plan. It's not easy to get into after midnight! The newest one on the Asian side is too new to write off, but hasn't managed to capture the same vibe yet.

The 360 on Suada this summer seems to be hopping, but it's the original 360 overlooking embassy row in Beyoglu where you'll really enjoy yourself. Cover charge is steep, but the view is a bomb. Go early for dinner (priced but pretty good) and stay on for the evening.
